EXPLANATION LUMEN AND KELVIN

Lumen = brightness

Brightness is measured in lumen (lm). In the graphic above, you can compare lumen to wattage of a conventional light bulb. The higher the lumen = the brighter the light.

Kelvin = the light colour of a bulb

A light's colour is measured in Kelvin (K). Low Kelvin means warm light for a cosy atmosphere. Candle light is 1500K, a conventional light bulb is 2700K and office light is between 3300-5500K. The higher the Kelvin = the colder the light.
